Scan for Services

The Numbers in 2025

- 64% of men report moderate-to-high levels of stress, up 4% in one year.
- 23% are at risk of moderate-severe depression, up 4% in one year
- 67% of men are not seeking professional mental health support services

Barriers men face to seek help

- Toxic masculinity: appearing weak and "not manly"
- Professional impact: concern about career if mental health issues are known to peers or employer
- Lack of awareness: difficulty recognizing and naming their emotions
- Denial: minimize problems

Recognizing When to Seek Help

- Emotional Signs - mood, energy level, and appetite changes are common.
- Behavioral Signs - Exhibiting escapist behavior, misusing substances, or showing aggression
- Physical Signs - headaches, digestive issues, chronic pain and irritability

Maintaining Mental Health

- Seek Help: Talk to anyone, but preferably a trained professional.
- Get regular exercise.
- Make Healthier Choices
- Sleep Well: 7 to 8 hours.
- Connect with others.
